

FACULTY SEARCH
DEPARTMENT OF AERONAUTICS AND ASTRONAUTICS
MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

The Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions with a start date of September 1, 2013. Existing Department programs include aircraft, spacecraft, transportation, information, and communication systems. We are searching for exceptional candidates in any discipline relevant to aerospace. Areas of especial interest to the Department include aerospace materials and structures, aircraft propulsion, air transportation, and humans and automation. Our goal is to hire candidates who have deep expertise in one or more core disciplines, and who have the potential and intellectual flexibility to become world leaders through integration of these disciplines to define and address new opportunities. Faculty duties include teaching and developing course materials at the graduate and undergraduate levels, advising students, and conducting original scholarly research. Further information on this search and the Department may be found at <http://web.mit.edu/aeroastro/about/jobs.html>.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Aeronautics and Astronautics, or a related field, by the beginning of the appointment period. The search is for a candidate to be hired at the assistant professor level, however, qualified candidates at all levels will be considered.

Applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, 2-3 page statement of research and teaching interests and goals, and names and contact information of at least three individuals who will provide letters of recommendation. Applications must be submitted as a pdf at <https://facsearch.mit.edu>. Letters of recommendation must be submitted directly by the recommenders at <https://facsearch.mit.edu/letters>.

Applications should be addressed to: Professor Raúl A. Radovitzky, Chair, Faculty Search Committee, MIT Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Applications will be considered complete only when both the applicant materials and at least three letters of recommendations are received. To ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by December 15, 2012.

MIT is building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from female and minority candidates.